

To gain a deeper understanding on the role of intrinsic activities in urban spaces as part of people's everyday life. By exploring the quality of street spaces using the concept of play and develop a method to explore ways that can help urban designers determine the role of play in street environments.

Inquiry with a single case study approach on play (revelatory)

Case design methods:
Direct Observation (outsider)
Interview (insider)
Documentation (drawings, imagery including video)

Analysis (Findings), Reflection on methodology,
Discussion on results

New theory
(optional)

